Founded in 1979, Asia America MultiTechnology Association (AAMA) is Silicon Valley's largest and most established non-profit organization dedicated to the Asia America high-tech community. Having deep roots and a wide reach in the local Silicon Valley community and across Pacific Rim countries, as well as a proven track record of success as a Silicon Valley-based organization, AAMA expanded into Asia by launching chapters in Beijing (2004), Shanghai (2007), Seoul (2010) and now in the Pearl River Delta (2012) to better serve as the bridge between Silicon Valley and Asia. Each chapter will host seminars, social gatherings or trips to localize the effort to promote business relationships and works closely with Silicon Valley headquarters to ensure members realize the maximum benefit of the organization.
